

Turn your Data into Actionable Insights

Spyglass MTG can evolve your analytics journey with a customized 6-week data platform QuickStart

The Problem

Most organizations already see the potential data, analytics and AI can provide. Data, analytics and AI can accelerate digital transformation for every organization through actionable insights. Unfortunately, Legacy BI solutions can't give your organization the benefits of a modern data platform architected on Azure. Whether you are migrating your analytics solution to the cloud, have a business need for real-time analytics or see the value in predictive modelling, Spyglass's Azure Data & AI QuickStart is a focused engagement designed to prove what is possible with Azure Analytics Services.

The Spyglass MTG Solution

This guided engagement will begin with data strategy workshop sessions to evaluate your current state of data management and analytics landscape. We then leverage the information gathered during these sessions to provide you with a roadmap for a modern data platform on Azure and help you create a sample Proof of Concept (POC) architecture leveraging Azure Blueprints.

We will then work with you to identify the pain areas by studying the state of your analytics program and identify areas of improvement. Throughout the project we review the operational feasibility of your use cases and provide analytics expertise towards meeting business objectives. At the end of the assessment, Spyglass will document findings and make recommendations to help you arrive at your desired end state for modern analytics.
